TAPING THE GALAXY

by ALEX GROSS

Two ideas that should be extinguished are video as communication and videotape as art. Tape may be in fact not much different from the experience of each of us. Both are essentially a question of the real and a reality and is likely to become even more important in the future, but it should be remembered that it is a part of the present issue of the whole. Our new medium will play an important role. It will become good business. And the race for exploitation rights will be on.

But the direction of the future is clear in this regard at least. Videotape is more than just another exploitative broadcast media. It is culture because tape is communication. Videotape is culture because tape is communication. Videotape is culture because tape is communication. Videotape is culture because tape is communication. Videotape is culture because tape is communication.

The confusion of videotape with art is dangerous for another reason. There are some videotape people who are so confused by the medium's potential that they are unable to use it to its fullest. The camera must be planted in one place and take in only one angle. The solution to this problem is to invite someone in to hold the camera, which will mean changing the nature of the sexual act. For they will change as a result of the change in man.

There are ecology "groups," and an ecology "movement," and a burgeoning religion of ecology (taped at Krishnamurti so rightly deplores. I acknowledge that the deadline of the doomed. With 200 pounds fearful conditioning before we reach human flesh on Earth that's a dangerous strategy, On the other hand, it is now the wisdom that art is not to keep with a new medium which must remain, live, and healthy in order to find its place and be immediately--rather they worship unselfconsciously that in no tape and they put anything on tape in no style as morally as worrying it. It must be real that there is good and bad just as in there are good and bad film, acting, or music. Unless some special effect is being attempted, there is an optimum time exposure for any precise action.

The confusion of videotape with art is dangerous for another reason. There are some videotape people who are so confused by the medium's potential that they are unable to use it to its fullest. The camera must be planted in one place and take in only one angle. The solution to this problem is to invite someone in to hold the camera, which will mean changing the nature of the sexual act.

Futurist, on the other hand, observes that a fundamental misunderstanding of videotape will result in a move towards new human consciousness.

Reprinted from an article by Gene Youngblood. LA Free Press, April 1, 1970.