Germany is the wealthiest TV market. They've already bought U.S. underground movies for regular programming and some innovations. So maybe we should learn from them. One of the reasons broadcast TV is so rigid is that the producers haven't yet got concepts to mean, and it's what we've been doing and developing all along, pushing the concept 'Advanced Television' at TV stations. It means whatever you want it to mass media is a source of bread.

Inlets and outlets should be properly set up by 1971.
